Program PGK meeting Wednesday February 20th, 2013*Address: KIVI Building, Prinsessegracht 23, Den Haag*Social hour: 17:00 - 18:00*Lecture: 18:00 - 19:00*Mosasaurus from MaastrichtAnne Schulp (Natuurhistorisch Museum Maastricht)Abstract

Mosasaurus were giant marine lizard-like reptiles, which evolved in the Late Cretaceous to become the most successful predators of the marine realm - until their demise, along with the dinosaurs, 65 million years ago.

The Late Cretaceous limestone of the Maastricht area is famous for its well-preserved mosasaur fossils. Curator of Vertebrate Palaeontology Anne Schulp of the Natuurhistorisch Museum Maastricht will present on the ongoing mosasaur research in and around Maastricht, covering topics ranging from cladistic analysis, stable isotope work, biomolecule analysis, CT-scanning (and 3D-printing!) and more.
